

Pass GOP Substitute Anti-Inflation Bill

Press Drive For Early Adjournment

Washington, Aug. 4.—(P)—The G.O.P. substitute for President Truman's anti-inflation program was rammed through the House banking committee tonight on a 16-8 vote.

It calls for restoration of wartime curbs on installment buying, and a moderate tightening of bank credit.

G.O.P. leaders were pressing a drive to adjourn the extra session of congress, possibly Saturday night, or at the latest next Tuesday.

Earlier they had abandoned an anti-poll tax bill in the Senate, saying a southern filibuster prevented action at this session.

Approves Housing Bill

A Senate-House committee tentatively approved, meanwhile, a housing bill which Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said is principally designed to stimulate production of lower-cost homes.

The measure is far different from the Truman-backed Tsi-Ellender-Wagner bill, designed to spur the construction of 15,000,000 homes in 10 years. For one thing, the T-E-W bill contains a provision for government-financed and publicly-owned homes for low income persons, a provision which McCarthy said is absent from the new bill.

The anti-inflation bill approved by the House banking committee flatly rejects Mr. Truman's call for reimposition of selective price and wage controls and rationing. It ignores his proposal for a $4,300,000,000 excess profits tax.

The Republican measure was headed for a House vote tomorrow.

Expect Truman To Veto Bill

Rep. Patman (D-Tex.) banking committee member, opened fire on the Republican measure. He issued a statement that it would have "a devastating effect on our economy" and predicted President Truman would veto it.

Republicans decided to present the measure to the House under procedures limiting debate to 40 minutes and requiring a two-thirds vote to pass the bill.

Patman predicted almost solid Democratic opposition and raised doubt whether Republicans can muster a two-thirds vote. There are now 244 Republican seats in the House and 185 Democratic.

Dixiecrats Have Victory

Republican abandonment of the anti-poll tax bill was a clear-cut victory for southern Democrats after a five-day filibuster.

As soon as a motion was lodged last Thursday to bring up the anti-poll tax bill, southern Democrats began erecting a wall of words around the subject. They refused to yield to anyone except other senators pledged to kill the measure.

Because the debate involved a motion, not a bill, presiding officer Vandenberg (R-Mich.) ruled that it was impossible to apply the debate-limiting closure rule. Southerners could, and did, talk as long as they wanted.

Suggest Popular Vote

As a tentative compromise, some GOP leaders suggested that instead of passing a bill against the poll tax, the matter be voted on by the people in the form of a constitutional amendment.

But at today's Republican conference, the compromise plan apparently was tossed overboard in favor of another effort to pass the anti-poll tax bill next year.

Douglas Blasts GOP's, Wallace

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 4.—(P)—Paul H. Douglas, Democratic nominee for U.S. senator, said tonight that "Republican-foster monopolies and Henry Wallace talks of socializing them."

"Both accept monopolies as immovable facts in our economic life, they differ only on whom the managers of the monopolies should be," Douglas said in a speech prepared for a Democratic women's meeting.

"The Republicans want them to be private individuals. Wallace wants them to be public agencies. In effect, both write off the small business man as an antiquated unit in our economy."

Douglas said the justice department should be given more funds to enforce the Sherman anti-trust law, and that the law should be changed in a way that would "bar big corporations from acquiring the assets of their competitors as they now do to evade the law."

How They Voted

Washington, Aug. 4.—(P)—This is how Illinois, Missouri and Wisconsin senators voted today when the Senate put aside the poll tax dispute:

Illinois—Lucas (D) against; Brooks, (R) for.

Missouri—Kem (R) and Donnell (R) for.

Wisconsin—Wiley (R) and McCarthy (R) for.

Marshall Refuses Comment About Russian Situation

Washington, Aug. 4.—(P)—Secretary Marshall, one of the very few men in the world who know where we stand now with the Russians, was asked to discuss that situation during his news conference today.

To every question, directly or indirectly touching upon the meetings in Moscow, he had to reply "no comment."

He said that for very evident reasons the State Department could make no statement. And the large group of correspondents, who assembled in the theater-like conference room at the State Department, did not attempt to press him. So nothing was said on the matter.

Not So Cheerful

The secretary was very grave, however.

His manner reflected none of that cheerfulness and high good humor that was reported to have been shining in the faces of the three western diplomats who recently saw Premier Stalin. If anything, Mr. Marshall appeared to be more serious—in fact, preoccupied—than he has been on other occasions when the Russian situation was under discussion with correspondents.

The apparent absence of optimism on the part of the secretary is pretty generally evident throughout Washington.

Neither in diplomatic nor military circles has there been any marked change of sentiment, or attitude about the outlook, since the meeting between Stalin and the American, British and French representatives. The shadings of opinion have not changed.

That is, some officials believe war can and will be avoided; others believe it can but that the odds are somewhat weighted against avoidance, and still others who feel it is inevitable.

In Dangerous Position

Where there is a considerable degree of agreement is on this point: That we may, now, be passing through the period of greatest danger. The whole issue of peace or war may be in the balance.

This conclusion is based on the view that Russia sooner or later would be forced, by time and the river of events, to make a sharp, and definite decision. The decision would be whether, in terms of Communist objectives, the present policy can be continued, or whether nothing less than direct action could advance them.

Since last spring, the Soviets have received a series of setbacks.

They were defeated in the Italian elections. They failed to obtain concessions from Finland. They were again rebuffed in France. They have seen the beginnings of a western union. And within their own orbit, Yugoslavia, a serious and remarkable dissension has surfaced.

To Hold Hearing
On Steel Gray
Market Soon

Washington, Aug. 4.—(P)—A public hearing on the steel gray market in the Chicago area will be held Aug. 10 by the House committee on questionable trade practices.

Chairman Macey (R-N.Y.) said the committee has been making "a rather intensive investigation in the distribution and sales policies of various warehouses and steel brokers in the Chicago area."

In his statement, Macey added that Myron Hokin, executive vice president of the Century Steel Corp., a subsidiary of Century America Corp. of Chicago, has been subpoenaed as a witness.

No other witnesses were named but Macey said they will include several district sales managers of the corporation, which has warehouses in Chicago, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Detroit, Louisville and New York.

Manufacturers who have bought steel from Century Steel Corp. also have been asked to testify.

Macey said "the committee is particularly interested in this case since it appears that Century Steel Corporation obtains most of its steel from many of the largest steel mills."

Univis Workers Agree To Terms Of Ohio Governor

Dayton, Ohio, Aug. 4.—(P)—Striking workers of the Univis Lens plant, thwarted by national guard troops, agreed today to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert's terms for approaching a settlement of the 92-day-old dispute.

Herbert Hirschberg, regional organizer of the CIO United Electrical Workers, announced members of the Univis plant local would vest in their leaders full authority to sign an agreement with the company.

Governor Herbert, incensed by members' rejection of a signed agreement between union and company officials last Sunday, had refused to arrange another conference unless U.E.W. negotiators were empowered to act for the membership.

The company, reporting that 390 of its normal 650 production workers were back on the job in the second day of operations under protection of guardsmen, announced it would proceed immediately to replace the strikers.

M. H. Stanley, company president, said he intended to make no new overtures to the CIO United Electrical Workers whose strike, he estimated, has cost Univis $1,000,000 in sales and its employees $500,000 in lost wages.

Claims He 'Found' Stolen Motorcycle

Chicago, Aug. 4.—(P)—A friend told Richard Meade today that he had seen Meade's motorcycle, stolen July 18, at Clark and Chestnut streets.

Meade found the machine and Seymour Phillips, 25, beside it.

"How much do you want for it," Meade asked.

"A hundred dollars," replied Phillips.

"The police will see about that," Meade said and called the Chicago avenue police station.

Phillips was charged with grand larceny. He insisted, however, he had found the motorcycle.

Policeman Arrests Own Son, Testifies 'He's A Bad Boy'

Philadelphia, Aug. 4.—(P)—A policeman arrested his own 10-year-old son and testified in magistrate's court today "he is a bad boy."

Patrolman Harold Jones told Magistrate William A. Byrd he arrested his son, Harold O. Jones, and a companion after chasing and shooting at their car for several blocks.

"He has a bad conduct discharge from the navy," the policeman testified. "He has spent 18 months in a reformatory and I have many, many times gotten him out of trouble in Philadelphia, Camden (N. J.) and New York."

Commented Byrd: "It's a humiliating thing for a police officer to have to come in and testify against his own son. It takes plenty of courage."

Then to young Jones Byrd said: "You're an idle and disorderly person and you're going to the house of detention for three months."

The son had only one comment on the disorderly conduct charge. He called his father "a liar."

Met Opera Cancels '49 Season; Unions Ask Wage Increase

New York, Aug. 4.—(P)—The world-renowned Metropolitan Opera today cancelled its 1948-49 season because, it said, demands for union wage increases could not be met.

If the cancellation stands, it will be the first time in 50 years that the Met has failed to present a season of opera.

The opera association said its decision was caused by "failure to reach agreements with all of the 12 unions representing the employees."

Shortly after the announcement, Local 802 of the AFL American Federation of Musicians said it had reluctantly withdrawn demands for a wage boost in an effort to reach a settlement with the opera.

This union said the only point it had continued to insist on was establishment of unemployment insurance and old age benefits.

The musicians said in a statement the Met "is not a private venture."

"It is a civic institution," the statement asserted. "It is one which belongs not to a small group of people—not to a board of directors—but it belongs to all the people, to those thousands of Americans who have contributed money so that the Metropolitan can continue its existence."

"It is inconceivable that the Metropolitan board of directors could act so cavalierly."

The union said it was "confident that this unilateral action will not stand for long, that those to whom the Metropolitan represents an integral part of our culture will assert themselves and make possible the next season."

If there is no opera this season, New York will be deprived of one of its most glittering social events—the November opening night—and also of one of its most popular entertainments.

Local 802 originally had sought a 30 per cent pay increase. Later it had indicated a 10 per cent boost might be acceptable. It said soaring living costs made a hike necessary.

The present minimum orchestra scale is $139.50 a week for the opera season in New York.

The opera goes on tour in the spring. Orchestra members receive $185 weekly on the tour but pay their own room and board. Last year the Met company went as far as Los Angeles.

MAN FOUND DEAD

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 4.—(P)—The body of an unidentified man was found late today crumpled in the truck of a late model 1947 Buick.

The man had been shot twice through the head. A noose was around his neck.

Soviets, Ukraine Fight With West Over Trieste

Lake Success, Aug. 4.—(P)—Despite Cominform attacks on Marshal Tito, Soviet Russia and the Ukraine backed Yugoslavia today in a fight with the west over Trieste.

There was not the slightest sign in the United Nations security council of the rift in Communist circles caused by the blasts of the Communist information bureau against the head of the Yugoslav state.

It was the first clear-cut indication here that the party struggle had not dented the solid Slav front in conflicts with the outside world.

Yugoslavia brought up the council fight by charging the United States and Britain with violating the Italian peace treaty. Dr. Josip Vrhovac, Yugoslav delegate, declared the western powers were trying to make their zone of the Trieste territory a province of Italy.

Dr. Philip C. Jessup, United States deputy, and Sir Alexander Cadogan, British, replied that Yugoslavia had no foundation for the charges.

Dr. Jessup called them "flimsy" and "utterly devoid of substance."

He said the U.S. is proud of its record in Trieste.

He and Cadogan said they were surprised that such charges should come from a government which, in administering its zone of the Trieste territory, had paid no heed to international obligations and had not even made a report to the Security Council. They said the British American administration had made complete reports.

Sues Government For Injuries To Child

Chicago, Aug. 4.—(P)—A Waukegan, Ill., steelworker today sued the government for $175,000 for injuries received by his 10-year-old son when the boy fell into a burning garbage dump operated by the Great Lakes naval training station.

The father, Reiner Larson, 45, seeks $25,000 for himself and $150,000 for his son, Raymond.

The suit states the boy stepped on an area of the dump which appeared to be "solid and sound."

Actually, the suit claimed, the area "consisted of hot and burning (trash or ashes) and the boy plunged through the surface."

Attorney Marshall Myer of Waukegan, who filed the suit, said the boy received first, second and third degree burns over most of his body. The youngster has been hospitalized since last Aug. 22, Myer said.

Seeks To Return Shoes Purchased Fifteen Years Ago

Omaha, Aug. 4.—(P)—The passage of time and the habits of style makers have put Miss Mary Carroll about three years ahead of the fashion in shoes.

Recently the former teacher from Creighton, Neb., returned a pair of shoes to an Omaha shoe store seeking a refund. When asked to check her purchase records, Miss Carroll was surprised to discover that 15 years had whizzed by since she purchased the then stylish Irish linen shoes with their long pointed toes and baby lion heels.

She said her feet had been bothering her at the time of the purchase so she put the shoes aside.

The store owner's advice: "In another three years they'll be fashionable again."

Girl's Dream Saves Family From Suffocation

Rock Falls, Ill., Aug. 4.—(P)—A little girl's dream last night saved a family of five from probable suffocation by smoke.

Phyllis Grove, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grove, was awakened by "a dream that the house was on fire."

She aroused her sister, Evelyn, 8, who warned the rest of the family and called the fire department.

Fire chief John Edgus said heavy smoke from the fire would have suffocated the Groves if they hadn't awakened. The fire started from matches which ignited in a kitchen cabinet, he said.

Haul Stolen Safe, Truck From River

Cairo, Ill., Aug. 4.—(P)—A hand truck and a cracked safe were the "catches" of two fishing expeditions in the river near here.

A small boy who thought he'd hooked a whopping fish pulled in the truck. Alexander county sheriff's deputies went fishing too and hauled in the safe. It had been missing since $400 cash and $533 in checks were taken with the safe from a botling firm recently.

Silvermaster Denies He's A Communist

Shortage Of Funds Limits Immigration Of DP's

Washington, Aug. 4.—(P)—A shortage of funds will limit to about 40,000 the number of refugees to enter the United States in the next 11 months, Ugo Carusi, newly named displaced persons commissioner, said today.

This is less than half the amount for immigration contemplated for the period under the displaced persons law passed in June. A total of 205,000 was set as the quota for the two years ending June 30, 1950.

Carusi said his conclusion is based on a study of what can be done with the "inadequate" $2,000,000 budget appropriated by Congress to finance the immigration.

Need Two Million Dollars

"We need at least $2,000,000 more for this fiscal year to get this program going on the scale congress envisioned when it passed the displaced persons law," Carusi said in an interview.

President Truman already has asked the extra session of congress to grant this money. He also wants the law changed to eliminate what he calls discrimination against Catholic and Jewish refugees. He proposes, in addition, that the bill be broadened to admit a total of 405,000 persons during the next four years.

Carusi, a former commissioner of immigration, said that even if congress grants the extra money, 60,000 to 75,000 displaced persons is all that the American government can hope to bring in during the first year.

To Employ 300 to 400

This is because the scarcity of funds has prevented the administration from moving as quickly as it planned to hire personnel needed to start the immigration. A force of 300 to 400 "investigators and selectors" alone will be required overseas to screen the thousands of prospective immigrants, he disclosed.

Carusi said the flow of immigrants can be stepped up enough in the second year to overcome the slow start if congress provides sufficient funds. If not, he said it will be necessary to reduce all present estimates.

Western Envoys Plan Next Move In Conference

Moscow, Aug. 4.—(P)—American, British and French envoys conferred for three hours tonight on their next step in negotiations with Russia for a settlement of the Berlin crisis and perhaps east-west differences in all Europe.

U.S. ambassador Walter B. Smith and French ambassador Yves Chateneau went to the British embassy where Frank Roberts, the special British envoy, received them. U.S. embassy counselor Foy Kohler accompanied Smith.

It was reliably reported that one of the three embassies—which one was not specified—had already received the first official reaction to the talks with Prime Minister Stalin Monday night.

It was possible that all three envoys had received such advice.

May Seek Another Meeting

The three envoys possibly discussed whether to seek another appointment with Stalin in order to communicate to him the views of their home governments.

However, there was no indication up to a late hour tonight that the western diplomats had made any effort to obtain a second appointment with either Stalin or foreign minister V. M. Molotov.

Reliable sources here said there is a good chance for "an agreement" between the western powers and the Soviet union but they did not specify its nature.

Marshall Refuses Comments

In Washington secretary of state George Marshall declined to say whether any new communication had been sent to the U.S. ambassador in Moscow or when any announcement will be made concerning results of the Moscow conversations.

To observers here it seems evident that U.S. ambassador Smith, former chief of staff to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and a figure in many important decisions in the last six or seven years, is playing a key role in the present situation.

Missing Chicago Man Found In Army Air Force

Chicago, Aug. 4.—(P)—Robert Eugene Potts, 21, son of a noted "blue baby" surgeon, was found today—a private in the army air force in Texas.

He had been missing from classes at the University of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y., since June 2. Last week his father appealed for help in finding him.

The father, Dr. Willis J. Potts, made the plea as he was about to undergo surgery himself. He wanted to have his son by his side, he said. The operation, for a gall bladder condition, was successfully performed last Saturday.

A spokesman at Children's Memorial hospital—where he is on the staff—said Dr. Potts heard from his son today. Young Potts had enlisted at Lackland airfield, near San Antonio, Tex. The spokesman said "flying and the air force were Robert's first love."

The spokesman said a reader in Texas had recognized the Potts youth from a photograph and told young Potts of the plea made here.

Robert, married and the father of two small children, disappeared almost on the eve of completion of his third year at the University of Rochester. He was a pre-medical student.

High Officials Kept Him On U. S. Payroll

Washington, Aug. 4.—(P)—Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, accused of spying for Soviet Russia, related today that a White House aide and a cabinet officer protected his wartime government job after naval intelligence tried to get him fired.

Silvermaster produced a letter he said was written by Robert P. Patterson, then secretary of war, clearing him after Lauchlin Currie, for years a top White House assistant, had called on Patterson in Silvermaster's behalf.

The middle-aged Silvermaster, a witness before the House un-American activities committee, flatly refused to say whether he ever was a Communist, but he asserted he never was a spy. He said the naval intelligence report was an unjustified smear and that he had been cleared after investigation by various agencies, including a chief of the U. S. secret service.

Patterson Gives Report

In New York, Patterson said that to the best of his recollection Currie called him during the war about a case in the board of economic warfare involving a man he thinks was Silvermaster. He ordered an inquiry, he said, and told Currie later that the war department did not object to the man staying in E.W. He added he had every confidence in Currie. Patterson said he never met Silvermaster and only heard of him the one time.

Testimony that both the navy and civil service commission had tried unsuccessfully to pry Silvermaster loose from his job with the Board of Economic Warfare was given the committee. He stayed on four more years—until 1946.

Thought Silvermaster A Communist

Louis Russell, a former FBI agent and now a committee investigator, testified that the civil service commission looked upon Silvermaster as a Communist. And Elizabeth Bentley, who says she was formerly a Soviet agent, repeated her story that Silvermaster furnished information that went to Russia. She said she was a courier for secrets released by many government officials, and that Silvermaster headed a group of employees with whom she dealt.

The Vassar graduate entered the hearing while Silvermaster was testifying and was asked to stand.

"Do you know Elizabeth Bentley?" he was asked.

"I refuse to answer on the grounds that any answer might incriminate me," Silvermaster replied.

Miss Bentley Testifies Again

Miss Bentley took the witness chair again today after Silvermaster had testified. She repeated that the former BEW employee had headed a Communist "group" of employees and ran a photographic laboratory in the basement of his home where secret papers were filmed. She said she used his home to collect information and as a meeting place.

In making a broadside denial of her story, Silvermaster recalled that he had been under investigation during almost his whole government service and had been cleared by various agencies. He moved that neither the FBI nor the New York grand jury had acted against him.

The grand jury had heard the same witnesses that the committee has produced, Silvermaster said.

If he has committed a crime, Silvermaster said, he should be prosecuted in the courts. Without this, he counseled, "my reputation should not be smeared."

On the Senate side, an expenditures subcommittee busy on the same spy stories, tried and failed to learn from Secretary of the Navy John L. Sullivan whether William W. Remington was discharged from his naval reserve commission for security reasons.

Remington, 30, is a commerce department official named by Miss Bentley as one source of government secrets she gave Russian agents.

You're As Safe In A Boat As You Make It

When two California men sank to their deaths in Lake Jacksonville while on a fishing trip Sunday, the number of tragedies that have occurred there rose to three. A boy slipped from the rip-rap near the east end of the lake several years ago and drowned. Considering the fact that Lake Jacksonville was built ten years ago, and that each year it attracts thousands of fishermen and boaters, the average may be no larger than any other body of water of its size. There have been even more drownings in Lake Maumet during the past 30 years. But each succeeding accident is a tragic lesson to the thousands who use the lake to be careful, to exercise utmost caution at all times. The lake can be a playground, a joy to the living, or a watery grave for those who forget to be careful, or become victim of an unavoidable accident.

Witnesses to the double tragedy Sunday said one of the victims was standing up in a boat while engaged in casting. Many fishermen have done that. But deaths of the two California men served to call attention to the danger of standing or moving about in a boat. They had two kapok-filled cushions in the craft, which would have sustained them, but failed to reach them after falling overboard. The boat did not overturn. Thus safety was almost in their grasp.

About 400 boats of various types are in service at Lake Jacksonville. With that many boats in operation, danger of accidents is always present if those who operate them are not cautious. Even the strongest swimmers might become distressed if thrown out in the middle of the lake, which is more than a half mile wide at some points. There are frequent reports of recklessness on the part of some motorboat owners. The lake ordinance covers such violations of safety and its provisions should be enforced.

Lake Jacksonville is deep. Its waters are placid, but fishermen and boaters should not be lulled into a complete sense of security. If you are going on a cruise check your boat and its safety equipment. Operate it with the same care that you operate your automobile in traffic. If there is a chance of tipping the boat by standing, thereby putting your own life and the lives of passengers in danger, keep your seat. A few yards more on a cast is not worth taking a chance.

BECOMES BRIDE

MRS. ROBERT W. TAYLOR, the former Miss Audra Nienhiser, was married last Sunday in a mid-afternoon ceremony at St. Paul's Lutheran church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nienhiser of Chapin. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude B. Taylor.

Naomi Edwards, Becomes Bride Of J. Roodhouse, Jr.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Edwards in Roodhouse was the scene of a lovely wedding ceremony in which their daughter, Miss Naomi Elene Edwards, became the bride of John Roodhouse, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Roodhouse, Sr.

The vows were received by the Rev. C. A. Sullivan of Jacksonville in a double-ring service which took place at 4 p. m. on Friday, July 30. The wedding was performed against a background of glad and lilies.

The attendants were Miss Leona Rochester, cousin of the bride, and James Roodhouse, the bridegroom's brother.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a street-length dress of blue, edged in pink. As her only jewelry she wore a strand of pearls. Her corsage was of pink rose buds.

Miss Rochester wore a brown and white print dress, with a corsage of gold carnations.

An informal reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. Assisting with the serving were Miss Rochester, Mrs. Ralph Ham, Mrs. Floyd Davis and Mrs. John Roodhouse, Sr.

Both the bride and groom were graduated from the Roodhouse Community high school. The bride later attended the Western Union School at Crawfordsville, Ind. Her husband served with the U. S. Navy for a year and a half and is now engaged in farming with his father.

Upon returning from their wedding trip, the couple will reside in Roodhouse.

Deputy Explains Workings Of Job Insurance Act

Job insurance comes at no expense to Illinois workers, as all costs are paid by employers who are subject to the Illinois Unemployment Compensation Act. Deputy-in-Charge William Tattersall of the Jacksonville unemployment compensation office pointed out Wednesday. Many workers mistakenly believe that job insurance is paid for out of their own wages.

"Even today, after several years of experience, many workers do not yet understand how compensation works," Deputy Tattersall stated. "They believe that they paid for their job insurance and confuse the one per cent wage deduction for Old Age and Survivors Insurance with unemployment compensation."

"Old Age and Survivors Insurance is a Federal activity handled by the Social Security Administration," the deputy explained. "On the other hand, unemployment compensation is a State activity. Not one cent is taken from a worker's wages to pay for job insurance, all costs of which are borne by employers liable under state law. In fact, the Illinois Unemployment Compensation Act expressly forbids any employer to deduct unemployment compensation payments from his workers' wages."

Furthermore, any agreement by which a worker, as a condition of employment, waives his benefit rights is benefits during a period of involuntary unemployment.

"Other workers often confuse unemployment compensation with health or accident insurance, and file claims for benefits covering periods of illness or disability. Illinois law specifically provides that a claimant for jobless benefits must be able to work full time and be available to accept any offer of suitable work. Any claimant who fails to meet these requirements cannot qualify for unemployment pay."

Illinois law further provides that in addition to ability to work and available for work, the claimant must be registered for work with the Illinois State Employment Service, that he be involuntarily unemployed, be actively seeking work by his own efforts and have wage credits of at least $225 earned at insured work during the base year, which currently is the calendar year 1947. No claim based on 1948 earnings can be filed until after the expiration of the current benefit year on March 31, 1949.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms, pink and white gladioli, white hydrangea and lighted tapers. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. H. W. Brooker played several numbers on the piano and soloists, Mrs. Betty Thibault as soloist, George Rafferty and Jack Staples served as candlelighters and also ushers.

Mrs. Doris Carmody was matron of honor and Kenneth Edwards served as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a white street length suit with navy blue accessories. A corsage of white carnations completed her costume. Her attendant wore a light blue suit with navy blue accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church basement. Those who served were the Mesdames Robert Logan, Jack Staples, Eugene Kessler, George Livingston, and George Rafferty and Miss Katherine Christison.

The bride was graduated from the White Hall school in 1944 and has been employed by the Prudential Loan company at Jacksonville. Her husband is a graduate of Greenfield High school and a veteran of World War II.

Upon returning from a brief wedding trip, the couple will make their home on a farm near Greenfield.

Jacksonville is to have a swimming carnival. The pre-war event, long discarded because of the war years, will be brought back into full glory August 30.

The city swimming carnival will be jointly sponsored by the Jacksonville City Park Board and the YMCA. John Agger, chairman of the park board swimming committee, and Wilson Jansen, director of the "Y", are coordinating the event. Glenn Skinner, Jr., manager of the swimming pool will work in close cooperation with these men.

No Entry Fee

The finals in the competitive races will be held at 8 p.m. At that time there will be additional acts. There will be canoe tilting, diving exhibition, and a ballet. Should Mail Blanks

An entry blank appears in the Journal Courier for interested boys and girls. The blank should be turned in at the Journal Courier, the swimming pool, or the YMCA. It can also be mailed to the YMCA. Ribbons will be awarded to all winners and second place winners in the individual races and diving events.

The events open for competition are as follows: races free style, back, side stroke, and medley relay, which includes crawl, side and back; novelty races, bottle relay, candle relay, balloon push, and diving competition.

Age classifications have been broken down as follows: boys and girls under 10; boys and girls, 10 through 14; boys, 15 through 20; and girls, 15 through 20.

Deadline Aug. 26
The deadline for entering the city swimming carnival is August 26, at 9:00 p.m. Carnival officials have asked that all boys and girls who are interested in the ballet act, or in being clowns, should report to the swimming pool at 10 a.m. (daylight time) Monday, Aug. 9. All participants should be able to swim the width of the pool to qualify for the carnival.

There will be no charge, either to the public, or to the participants in the carnival.

4-H Club Leader Discusses Cass Livestock Show

Virginia—Steve Treadway, local farmer and group leader for the Virginia 4-H club, presented an interesting talk on 4-H club work at the Kiwanis meeting Monday night.

Treadway has been interested in 4-H work since he was 10 years old. He told of his own experiences and gave many facts concerning the founding of the organization and the way it operates. He also told of his experiences with a large stock farm in Indiana at which he worked as a professional showman.

The speaker closed his program with remarks concerning the local 4-H and Junior Livestock show to be held August 26-27-28 in Virginia. He says the show will be better than last year because of the evenness of quality in the exhibits. Last year there were several outstanding animals and the rest were of medium to poor quality.

The Robinson family reunion was held in the dining hall at Nichols park with seventy-three friends and relatives present.

At noon a basket dinner was served. After the delightful meal the regular business meeting was held with the president, Charles Newman, in charge.

The card committee reported as to sending cards of greeting, congratulation and sympathy to all members involved. The group voted to send a plant to Mrs. Madeline Frank who has been ill for some time.

A short program was presented by Mrs. Irene Smith.

The group decided next year to have contests and games instead of a formal program. For this the president appointed a committee comprised of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foster.

The nominating committee presented the following names for officers for 1949. For president, Charles Newman; vice-president, Mrs. Nellie Phillips; secretary, Mrs. Emma Robinson, and for treasurer, Robert Foster. These were elected by acclamation.

Jacksonville Schools Will Reopen Sept. 2

Dr. D. R. Blodgett, city superintendent of schools, has announced that public schools will open September 2. This includes the four ward schools, David Prince junior high, and the high school.

Dr. Blodgett stated that the first grade enrollment should be about two-hundred this year. He said that this was not a significant change.

A specially prepared manual, "Looking Forward to Kindergarten and the First Grade," has been prepared for parents who will enter their children in school. The manual explains the objectives that the school system strives for the first year. These include: growth of good social habits, acquisition of fundamental skills and knowledge, normal physical and mental growth, development of individual abilities, and an appreciation of the Democratic way of living.

Curriculum the first year includes learning the language arts, social studies, science, arithmetic, art, music, dramatic play, construction, learning health habits and physical education.

One section in the manual deals with suggested steps to prepare the prospective first grader for reading class. The parents are encouraged to increase the child's vocabulary, to read to him whenever possible and to discourage baby talk.

The booklet contains an alphabet which parents can use to teach their child something about writing before entering school.

Dr. Blodgett said that it was his hope that the booklet would result in a more effective partnership between children, teachers and parents in achieving success in living and working.

U.S. Wins Hurdles, 400 Meter Swim In Olympics

London, Aug. 4.—(AP)—American lead with eight first place winners track and swimming stars earned in 16 events and a total of 156 two more gold olympic medals today. Sweden, the nearest competitor, was hopelessly outdistanced by 44 points.

In swimming Smith's success gave the American men their fourth straight triumph. It was their third successive new record in the water races.

The 22-year-old Porter skimmed over the sticks in Olympic record time of 13.9 seconds to smash the old mark set by Forrest Towns for America in the 1936 games at Berlin.

It was an American show with Clyde Scott, the football star from Navy and Arkansas, and Craig Dixon of UCLA running close together in the early stages. When Porter put on his final spurt he edged Scott and Dixon who were clocked in 14.1, equalling the old standard.

The hurdler's triumph was as complete as the shot putters yesterday who also swept the first three places in the finals.

Smith's swimming victory, coming late in the day after the track events were completed, was surprising because Jimmy McLauch, the 17-year-old lad from Akron, Ohio and Andover Academy, was expected to launch a double in this 400-meter race. He is favored to take the 1,500-meter event later in the week.

Although McLauch had set a new Olympic record of 4:42.2 in a trial heat, Smith was too much for him in the finals when he burst up the new Olympic mark of 4:41. These figures obliterated the figures Jack Medina of Seattle, Wash., established at Berlin in 1936 when he won in 4:44.5.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Most good and choice barrows and sows sold from $22.50 to $31.25, although heavier weights were scarce. Sows brought $21.00 to $27.50. Choice steers and yearlings ranged from $28.75 to $40.25 for the most part, the best getting up to $40.85 for the day's top. Heifers topped at $28.50, beef cows at $27.00, bulls at $26.00, and weaners at $31.00.

Native spring lambs topped at $29.50 sparingly, most good and choice stopping at $29.00. The best money on slaughter ewes was $12.25. Total receipts included 7,000 hogs, 10,000 cattle, 500 calves and 2,500 sheep.

Returning To Jacksonville Sunday

Rain Stalls National Junior Tennis Tourney

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Second-seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati continued his bid for the national junior tennis title today as he took Dick Norris of Milwaukee and advanced into the quarter final round.

The match was the only one played today in the national junior and boys tennis championships. Rain washed out all morning matches and began falling again shortly after tournament officials decided to resume play.

Trabert, the western junior champion, had a comparatively easy time defeating Norris 6-2, 6-2 in their fourth round match.

Canadian Louis Maine of Vancouver, B.C. won his first of his fourth round junior match with Dick Cain of Kalamazoo 8-6 and was ahead 3-2 in the second set when the late afternoon downpour began.

Tournament officials ruled that the Maine-Cain match and two others which had just begun will be played off tomorrow.

The officials said they would step up the tempo of the meet in order to finish it as quickly as possible. Finals in both boys and junior singles and doubles originally were scheduled for Saturday, but it was indicated they might have to be put over until Sunday.

St. Louis, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Hard singles by Jerry Priddy and Whitey Platt with two men out in the last of the ninth gave the St. Louis Browns a 9 to 8 decision over the Boston Red Sox. The game started out as a slam-bang slugfest, then settled down into a pitchers' battle between relief hurlers Ellis Kibler and Ned Garver.

Cleveland Fans Set Pace For Attendance

Cleveland, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Pennant feverish Cleveland fans, setting the pace for major league baseball attendance, will break another turnstile record tomorrow when the Indians play Washington.

That's assuming, of course, it doesn't rain—a not unreasonable assumption considering rain checks haven't meant a thing to 1,516,257 customers who've paid their way into the lakefront stadium on the 39 playing dates there so far this season.

With 26 home dates left, the league-leading Tribe is within 5,721 of equalling the 1,521,978 gate here for all of last season. Even the most optimistic fans didn't regard that 1947 fourth-placers as pennant contenders, but they turned out in numbers that swept away the 1,057,289 record set in 1946 when crowd-conscious Bill Veeck became Tribe president.

Advance sales indicate hitting 2,000,000 at the big municipal bowl this year will be easy. In fact, the Tribe's front office is shooting at the major league all-time season record of 2,265,512 set by the New York Yankees in 1946.

Last night, for the fifth time this season, more than 70,000 streamed to the stadium to watch the Indians. Leroy "Satchel" Paige, beating Washington 5-3 in his first major league start, was the big drawing card for the 72,434 gate which moved the Tribe ahead of the New York Yankees' 1948 home attendance of 1,511,781 for 41 home playing games.

Red Munger Leads Cards To 7-2 Victory Over Giants

New York, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Big Red Munger turned in his best performance of the season today as he pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 7-2 victory over the New York Giants in the first half of a day-night doubleheader.

It was the first time since May 18 that Munger has pitched a complete game. He scattered 10 hits, giving up six of them in the first three innings.

The Cards nipped Sheldon Jones for a run in the second and added two more in the third when Stan Musial socked his 26th homer with a man aboard. Then the Giants denied Munger for their first run in the last of the third on Sid Gordon's triple and Johnny Mize's single.

Walker Cooper slammed his 11th homer in the sixth to cut the Cards' margin to a single run but the Red Birds bounced back and drove Jones to cover with a four-run rally in the seventh. Babe Young's single with the bases loaded highlighted the Card seventh inning uprising.

Bitter Reprieve

By Drexel Drake Copyright, 1948, Charles H. Huff; Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Talent is directing a drama for Miriam Sterling's murder. So far he has only one lead. The counter man at a diner in the vicinity of Chicago remembers a cigar-smoking stranger with a scar on his head who came in for coffee late on the night of the murder.

only come in this morning . . . just using the desk. One of the girls said he is checking over stock transfer records."

"More than likely some official investigator," Sterling said. Miss Wilson could not suspect the full significance of that.

LATER in the morning, when he swiveled in his chair to say something across to Miss Wilson, Sterling noticed that the stranger was not at his desk. When he had turned back, he fished a fat envelope from his inside coat pocket, where it had reposed since his methodical preparation of it in the booth at the florist's Saturday morning. He placed the envelope among the mail Miss Wilson had brought him, letting it protrude conspicuously.

The man struggling with large tabular sheets was at Overleigh's desk when, at 12:30, Sterling got up and announced to Miss Wilson that he was going to lunch.

"Would you mind going at the same time, Miss Wilson?" he asked. "I'm planning a heavy afternoon."

"Certainly, Mr. Sterling."

Large plate glass windows separated the banking room of Harbor Trust Company from the lobby of the Harbor Trust Building. A considerable portion of the bank's floor space was in full view from the building lobby.

Sterling had made his departure for luncheon reasonably conspicuous. Miss Wilson had followed him by a minute. Sterling had gone through the revolving door, exit to the sidewalk, jostled a dozen steps in the financial district's noonday throng, and pushed open a door that admitted him to the building lobby.

Taking a position of indifference waiting for someone, Sterling glanced through the plate glass windows into the bank's quarters. His view commanded his own desk far to the rear. The necklace had not been concealed in a fold of the newspaper!

IT lacked two minutes of the time set for the next race when Ripley saw the small man get into line before the $100 seller's window toward the far end of the grandstand. There were only three bettors ahead of him.

When it was the small man's turn to bet, only a rail between them. The small man dove his left hand into the side pocket of his sports coat. The hand came out holding a sheaf of smooth, bristling new currency.

The man's pinched face was bent against the bars of the window. His left hand was edging the crisp bills toward the small opening below the bars. Ripley saw a prominently engraved "100" on a corner of the top bill.

"Five number . . ." the small man began, speaking through the bars. That was as far as he got with his intended request. He winced and turned when he felt strong fingers clamped about the wrist of his left hand.

Ripley jerked him through the exit opening in the rail. The small man began a significant movement with his right hand but he arrested it when Ripley turned back a coat lapel.

"Oh, a copper!"

"Let's go over here and talk," Ripley said.

"I gotta get my bet down . . . I got only a minute."

"Let's talk first," Ripley insisted. He piloted his angry captive to an open space beyond the tier of windows. Except for brief attention by two or three men who observed Ripley's opening overture, no curiosity had been aroused.

Ripley looked at the money in the hand he still held gripped.

"Where'd all that come from?" he demanded.

"Is it against the law to have money?" the man snarled. "Geeze, you're holding me up. I gotta lay it on Confado on the nose. It's hot."

"Nice new centuries," Ripley said. He grinned when he noted the serial number on the top bill. He had hardly needed that confirming evidence.

LATE Tuesday morning Lieutenant Talent got his first report relating to Miriam Sterling's $100 bills. From a bank it was learned that 15 of the bills had been passed through pari-mutuel windows at Belmont on Monday.

Talent considered the information highly illuminating. It revealed that he was dealing with a more than ordinarily clever crook: one who had been quick to recognize in the pari-mutuel window a novel just barely introduced to New York race-goers, a strategic facility for converting possibly "hot" currency of large denomination into well-circulated unidentifiable bills.

Talent got Detective Ripley into his office. It was finally time to take someone into his confidence in the secret he had so carefully guarded. Ripley's eyes widened when he began to sniff the nature of the assignment.

"If you get out there right away," Talent said, "you'll have a couple hours to line up some of the sellers for help. Might as well pass up the $2 and $5 windows."

"It would be the top windows, Lieut," Ripley said.

"You'll be on your own, Gus. I'm playing it that way because I don't want a leak. But remember this. If you do run onto anybody out there, it probably will be small fry . . . we'll want him in shape to answer questions."

DETECTIVE RIPLEY, appearing to be interested in the folded race program in his hand, caught a barely perceptible signal from one of the clubhouse sellers' windows. It was just a quickly jerked thumb, aimed at a man turning away from the window. The man was small, dark-skinned. He wore a checkered sports coat and the flaring collar of his pale yellow shirt was open at the scrawny throat. A soft hat was set back jauntily on his small head, and his beady eyes were squinting at several small purplish pieces of light cardboard as he walked away from the window. He had stuffed them carefully into the breast pocket of his coat by the time he passed Ripley.

Ripley followed the small man indifferently. The latter stepped outside the clubhouse, stood gazing across the evenly cropped lawn toward the paddock. Ripley watched from a columned doorway, leaning against the wall. The electrifying announcement came from the loudspeaker . . . the race had started. The small man seemed peculiarly disinterested for one who had just come away from the $100 seller's window with a handful of tickets. He lit a cigarette with deliberation, strolled slowly back into the clubhouse, now almost wholly deserted.

The small man walked leisurely, took up a position against a post not far from the row of cashiers' windows. Ripley made an unobserved half circle. Excited men were bursting back into the clubhouse, springing toward the cashiers' windows. The small man jerked a question at one of them. Without stopping, the runner shouted back three numbers with unconcealed jubilation.

The expression on the small man's face did not change but he darted with sudden vigor to a window, marked for the redemption of winning $100 tickets. From a protected distance, Ripley saw him come away, clutching a fistful of currency. The man rifled through it quickly, folded the bills and stuffed them deeply into his left trousers' pocket.

Hogs Hit Record Price; Users Wage Telephone War On Cost Of Meat

Chicago, Aug. 4—(AP)—A telephone crusade against high meat prices mounted as hogs hit record price peaks today. Housewives in scattered parts of the country phoned one another to stay out of butcher shops, but the phone calls did not reach the Chicago Livestock Market. It was there that the new all time high hog peak—$31.50 a hundred pounds—was reached.

Miss Betty Rush, Robert J. French Married Monday

Miss Betty Jane Rush was married to Robert J. French in a double-ring ceremony performed Monday at 2 p.m. in the rectory of the Church of Our Saviour by the Rev. Father Raymond Franzen. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Rush, 518 East Morton avenue. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Mae Serross, 120 East Dunlap.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Tim Fennessey as matron of honor and A. W. Ward, Jr. as best man. The wedding was held at the home of the bride's parents, 518 East Morton avenue. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Raymond Franzen. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Rush, 518 East Morton avenue. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Mae Serross, 120 East Dunlap.

For her wedding the bride chose an afternoon dress of white linen, trimmed with Irish lace. White accessories and a corsage of pink and white gladioli completed her costume. Mrs. Fennessey was attired in beige, with which she wore white accessories and a corsage of salmon colored gladioli.

Mrs. Rush chose for her daughter's marriage a black and pink print, with black accessories and a corsage of cerise gladioli. The bridegroom's mother was attired in gray, with black accessories and a corsage of peach colored gladioli.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Carl C. Strawn, 459 South East street. The serving table was decorated with a tiered wedding cake. A cut glass vase of white roses and lighted tapers completed the table decorations. Mrs. Fennessey served the cake and Mrs. Donald Brown poured punch.

The couple left for a wedding trip to the Ozarks, and for traveling Mrs. French wore a grey linen costume, black accessories and her wedding corsage.

Upon their return the couple will be at home to friends at 518 East Morton avenue. Mrs. French was graduated from Jacksonville high school and for several years has been employed at the New Method Book Bindery. Her husband, also a graduate of Jacksonville high school, served with the U.S. Navy for almost four years and is now employed as manager of the Piggly Wiggly store on West Beecher avenue.
